

Contents

Acknowledgements — IX

Foreword — XI

Foreword by the series editor — XIII

Part I: The background for personal leadership

Chapter 1

Introduction — 3

- 1.1 CEO of Self, Inc. — 4
- 1.2 Sustainable personal leadership model — 6
 - 1.2.1 Purpose — 6
 - 1.2.2 Alignment — 7
 - 1.2.3 Experimentation — 8
- 1.3 Our approach to development — 9
- 1.4 How the book is organised — 10

Chapter 2

Theoretical foundations of ‘personal leadership’ — 12

- 2.1 Career conversations — 12
 - 2.1.1 Inside-out career orientation — 14
 - 2.1.2 Sustainable career development — 16
- 2.2 Adult development — 17
 - 2.2.1 Jung — 17
 - 2.2.2 Erikson — 18
- 2.3 The development of mind — 20
- 2.4 Identity construction — 22
- 2.5 The bottom line — 23

Chapter 3

Longevity, work and retirement — 25

- 3.1 Changing global demographics — 25
- 3.2 The invention of retirement — 29
- 3.3 Careers across time — 31
- 3.4 Cyclical careers — 33
- 3.5 The bottom line — 35

Chapter 4

The new midlife — 36

- 4.1 Life course and lifespan: two theories — 36
- 4.2 Defining midlife — 38
- 4.3 Change and stability in midlife — 40
 - 4.3.1 Midlife and continuity — 40
 - 4.3.2 Accumulative advantages and disadvantages — 42
 - 4.3.3 Life trajectories and agency — 44
- 4.4 The bottom line — 46

Part II: Personal leadership in action

Chapter 5

Self-awareness — 51

- 5.1 Life stories and identity — 51
- 5.2 Our life in chapters — 52
 - 5.2.1 Chunking and labelling — 54
 - 5.2.2 People and external influences — 55
 - 5.2.3 Decision making — 56
 - 5.2.4 Familial patterns and repetitions — 58
- 5.3 Language and narrative — 59
- 5.4 Narrative frame and storyline — 61
- 5.5 Personal values and priorities — 63
- 5.6 Personality — 66
- 5.7 The bottom Line — 67

Chapter 6

Professional identity — 68

- 6.1 Professional vs. personal identity — 68
- 6.2 Professional brand — 69
- 6.3 Career patterns and work history — 71
 - 6.3.1 Career timeline — 72
 - 6.3.2 Career metaphors — 73
 - 6.3.3 Career anchors — 75
 - 6.3.4 Career patterns — 77
- 6.4 Not a ladder — 78
 - 6.4.1 Career success — 78
 - 6.4.2 Success or status — 80
- 6.5 The bottom line — 81

Chapter 7Identifying your life domains — 82

- 7.1 This is not about work-life balance — 82
- 7.1.1 ‘Work’, ‘life’ and contraposition — 83
- 7.1.2 Implicit judgements — 84
- 7.1.3 Personal balance — 85
- 7.2 Life domains and ripple effects — 85
- 7.2.1 How to choose domains — 86
- 7.2.2 Domains not chosen — 87
- 7.2.3 Domains over time — 87
- 7.3 Wheel of life — 88
- 7.3.1 Expectations and satisfaction — 90
- 7.3.2 Resource allocation and energy — 91
- 7.3.3 Misalignment and recalibration — 93
- 7.4 Evaluating the sustainability of life domains — 94
- 7.5 The power of being selective — 96
- 7.6 The bottom line — 98

Chapter 8Recalibrating your resources — 99

- 8.1 Personal resources — 99
- 8.1.1 Personal leadership resources — 101
- 8.2 Human capital resources — 101
- 8.2.1 Auditing your HC resources — 103
- 8.3 Social resources — 105
- 8.4 Psychological resources — 108
- 8.4.1 PsyCap in action — 109
- 8.5 Identity resources — 111
- 8.6 Health and well-being — 113
- 8.7 A note on financial resources and planning — 114
- 8.8 The bottom line — 115

Chapter 9Experimentation — 117

- 9.1 The case for intentional experimentation — 117
- 9.2 Experimentation map — 118
- 9.3 Voluntary vs. forced experiments — 120
- 9.4 Experimentation as ‘work’ or ‘play’ — 121
- 9.5 Type of experiments — 124
- 9.5.1 Thought experiments — 124
- 9.5.2 Lab and field experiments — 125
- 9.6 Liminality — 128

9.6.1 Barriers to change — 130

9.7 Reflection — 131

9.7.1 How to reflect — 132

9.8 The bottom line — 134

Chapter 10

Personal leadership for life — 135

10.1 Leading Self, Inc. — 135

10.2 Sustainable personal leadership is learning — 136

10.3 Living with no regrets — 137

10.4 From personal leadership to leadership — 138

References — 141

List of figures — 147

About the authors — 149

About the series editor — 151

Index — 153